MYPLANT & GARDEN JETS OFF TO 2020!

Myplant & Garden Jets off to 2020!

2020 will see the 6th edition of Myplant & Garden, the International Green Expo, held in Milan.

It is warming up the engines for this next event to be held from 26-28 February next year.

The goal for 2020 is to confirm and reinforce the role of the trade fair as the place to be for the international jet set of the garden industry.

Master Trade Fair

The fifth edition recorded the satisfaction of both exhibitors and visitors. The master trade fair for the garden industry in Italy is getting ready for a new, inspiring rendezvous with an international flavour.

In the context of landscape planning and re-development, there has been very positive feedback from public bodies managing urban green areas from across Italy during the last edition.

Public Green Piazza

"One of the aims for 2020 is to create a piazza for public green areas in which landscapers, plant producers, public administrations and service providers can share their ideas freely".

The sectors of interest of visitors in 2019 were, (in order of preference): nurseries, pots, garden care, flowers, machinery, landscape, decoration, services.
